

Questions of the Executive

1. In which situations does decision-making power shift from humans to technical systems, and in which should it intentionally remain human?
2. What risks arise from the use of the technology, and who bears the responsibility for the resulting consequences?
3. How do you ensure that the use of the technology is consistent with ethical principles, legal requirements, and organizational values, and where might potential conflicts of interest arise?
4. How does the implementation of the technology alter the dynamics of both internal and external conflicts?

Short Description: Scenario 6

- Technologies collect, disseminate, and evaluate enormous amounts of information, but cannot guarantee a reliable shared reality.
- Constant vigilance, uncertainty, and the ongoing scrutiny of information characterize everyday work.
- Leadership provides direction and makes decisions, even though situational assessments, responsibilities, and political commitments remain ambiguous.
- Leadership must act quickly and credibly without reacting to manipulated information, unnecessarily escalating situations, or creating a state of constant alert.
